The matter proceeded in court, with one exception. Oster Hoshin in its role as former counsel for MFCI is not party to this matter and is not in a position to consent to the voluntary release of confidential client information. However, Oster Hoshin is not opposing the issuance of the <sup>an</sup> order ~~it~~ which would facilitate the ~~results~~ results of the liquidator's matter.

Issues relating to data transfer have been negotiated by the affected parties in attendance today.

I am satisfied that <sup>their</sup> these efforts, which were reflected in a very detailed order that has been agreed to by all parties, addresses issues of concern previously identified relating to confidentiality and privilege.
The order provides for a Dispute Resolution Process and for parties to return to court for further direction, if necessary. This will assist to ensure that issues relating to data transfer can be addressed in an expeditious manner.

The ~~order~~
The judgment is directed to proceed on the terms set out in the order, as presented today, as amended.
