Dear Sir/Madam,

We present to you the next edition of our Software Licensing Bulletin, which highlights the concepts of Microsoft® Visual Studio.

Visual Studio Developer licence is a User based licence and can be reassigned every 90 days to another developer/tester. These developers need to be registered in the MSDN portal. Any IT users who access MSDN software also need a MSDN subscription and should be enrolled in the MSDN Portal.

Visual studio Community 2015 has same features as Visual Studio professional 2015 and is free of cost for following groups:

1) Individual developers
2) Class/room learning
3) Team of 5 users in a non-enterprise organization (having <250 PCs and <$1M)

Visual Studio express edition is free but online registration is required after 30 days.

Visual Studio Enterprise MSDN users receive one copy of Office ProPlus 2016 for production use. Desktop or Server OS benefits of MSDN can be used if that desktop is used for development and testing purpose exclusively. Mixed mode use of the desktop for email/browsing internet is not allowed.

We hope the bulletin was informative. We would be happy to provide you additional information that you may require on the subject. Please write to us at in-fmkpmgccsbulletin@kpmg.com, for any queries or feedback.

Regards,
