Dear Sir/Madam,

We present to you the next edition of our Software Licensing Bulletin, which highlights the details on Autodesk® Education licensing.

Subscription based licensing will provide the end customer economical options along with efficient inventory management.

What has changed?
- Following are changes brought around the terminology:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Former Term</th>
<th>Present Term</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Desktop subscription or cloud service subscription</td>
<td>Subscription with single-user access</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Network subscription</td>
<td>Subscription with multi-user access</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Maintenance subscription</td>
<td>Maintenance plan</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

- The option to cross grade to any of the affected products was discontinued when Autodesk stopped selling new perpetual licenses.
- With subscription based licensing, subscribers receive Global Travel Rights, Preceding Version Rights and access to the latest software and enhancements and support.

What has not changed?
- Existing perpetual licences are still valid. One retains the perpetual software licence and can continue to use it in accordance with their perpetual licence agreement.
- If one is currently covered under maintenance for the perpetual license, they may continue to renew that plan for as long as they want.

We hope the bulletin was informative. We would be happy to provide you additional information that you may require on the subject. Please write to us at in-fmkpmgcsrcbulletin@kpmg.com for any queries or feedback.
