Our process

WM reporting

Ad-hoc reporting at each distribution:

Banks are required to apply the right tax exemption on the dividend according to the investment fund tax classification (equity, mixed, real estate).

They are also required to collect the actual distributions during the year, which reduce the preliminary lump sum taxation applied by the bank.

Ad hoc reporting at liquidation:

Investors who invest funds in liquidation should benefit from an accurately computed tax basis, since distributions are only regarded as income to the extent that they contain capital gains generated during the calendar year.

Year-end reporting

Tax exempt investors and their banks will required data on German source income to be able to reclaim tax withheld on this ese income.

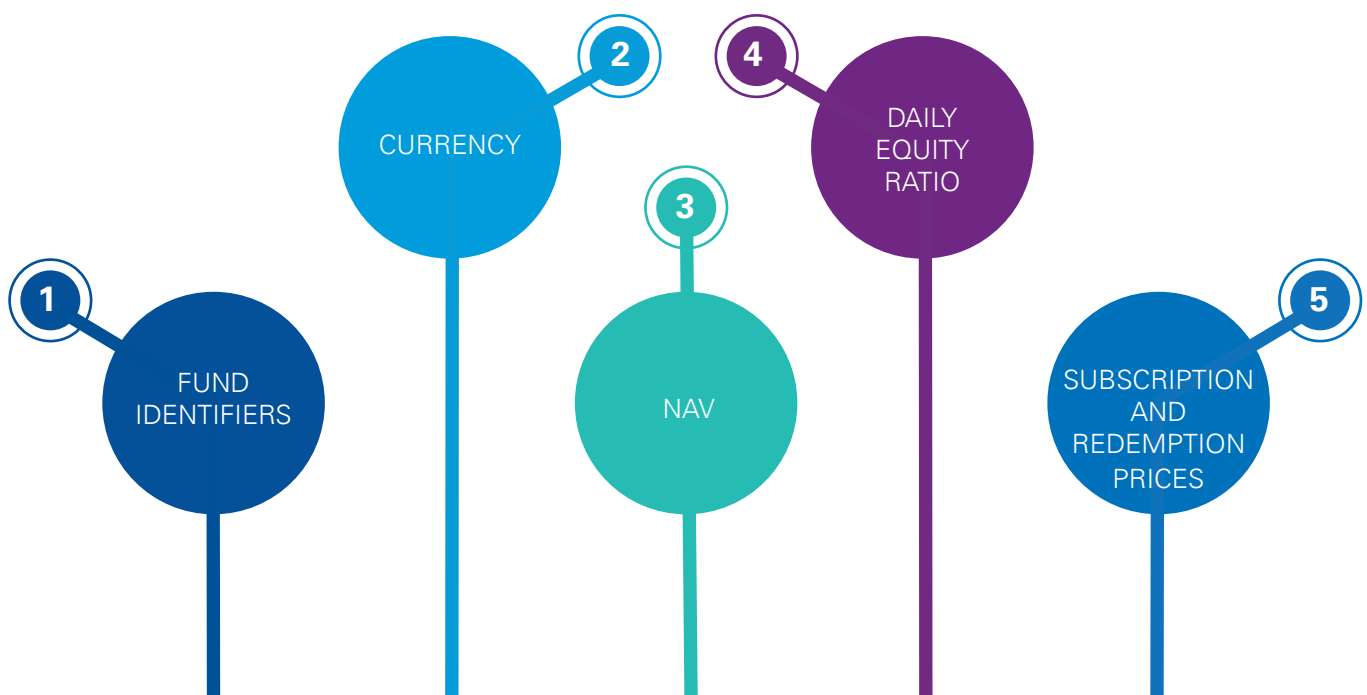

The reporting will confirm the tax classification of the fund to be applied by the Investor's bank.

Daily equity ratio reporting

Tailored to your needs, we offer the following service packages in relation to daily reporting:

Our 'end-to-end solution', which considers a daily data feed from your fund administrators, the calculation and/or control of the daily reporting figures (including flags and alerts in case of inconsistencies) and the respective publication via WM Daten.

Constant 'ad hoc reviews' including an independent analysis and calibration check of the calculation methodology used by your fund administrators and our KPMG standard methodology.
