

Wanderlust?

International travel expands your horizons. It gives fresh perspective and the opportunity to learn from others. That's why KPMG make it easy for employees to move around and explore the world whilst they work.

KPMG in the Channel Islands currently have employees on secondment in Hong Kong, San Francisco, New York, Bermuda, Cayman, Zurich and Australia. KPMG's global network operates in 155 countries. Employees are encouraged to travel under their Global Opportunities Programme. Openings range from short-term to long-term assignments of three years.

Audit Assistant Manager Charlotte Keen from Jersey is currently developing her leadership skills on a KPMG secondment in Australia, while Senior Associate Charles Downing from Guernsey is expanding his horizon in New York City. Both Charlotte and Charles applied for the Global Opportunities Programme in 2014 after qualifying in their ACA examinations.

Charlotte says: "After working for KPMG Jersey for four years I was ready to take on a new challenge. Sydney was my first choice, I wanted to experience life in a big city but also be close to the beach and my sister who lives in Australia. The whole relocation process was made really easy and I have received a lot of support with finding a place to live, settling in at work and making new friends.

KPMG Sydney has introduced me to a range of different clients, helping to develop my technical knowledge as well as learn new skills. Everybody is friendly and welcoming and they definitely know how to enjoy themselves at the end of a hard week!"

Charles says: "It had always been a goal of mine to move to New York City one day. Working for such a large company I wanted to make the most of the opportunities offered and explore the world. The work load in New York is certainly a step up from my experience in Guernsey, and I have thoroughly enjoyed the challenge.

KPMG have been very accommodating in career advice and assisting me with the move. Without working for KPMG I do not believe I would have had the opportunity to move abroad so easily nor gain the skills I have accumulated."

KPMG in the Channel Islands have approximately 260 employees. They are the heart and soul of the company and are given many opportunities to flourish both professionally and personally. Anyone in the business can apply for the Global Opportunities Programme. This excellent commitment to people ensures KPMG delivers an exceptional service to their clients.
